DETAILED ACTION

Claim Objections

1. Claim 12 is objected to because of the following informalities: There are two claims with the reference number "12." Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

3. Claims 1-19 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Nachenberg (US pat 5,826,013).

Regarding claim 1, Nachenberg teaches a method of detecting a class of viral code, comprising:

heuristically analyzing a subject file to generate a set of flags along with statistical information (col.3 lines 37-53);

using the set of flags with statistical information to perform at least one search for a scan string and/or a statement type in the subject file (col.3 lines 37-53; col.11 lines 3-22); and triggering a positive detection alarm if each of the at least one search is found at least a corresponding predetermined number of times (col.3 lines 44-46).

Regarding claim 2, Nachenberg teaches the subject file includes source code in a predetermined programming language (col.3 lines 17-35).

Regarding claim 3, Nachenberg teaches the predetermined programming language is a script language (col.5 lines 11-50).

Regarding claim 4, Nachenberg teaches the subject file includes a file for a predetermined word processor (col.11 lines 35-53).

Regarding claim 5, Nachenberg teaches at least one flag in the set of flags corresponds to a copy operation associated with one of the lass of viral code (col.1 lines 18-24; col.3 lines 37-53).

Regarding claim 6, Nachenberg teaches at least one flag in the set of flags corresponds to an operation for adding data from a string to a target module (col.5 lines 11-50).

Regarding claim 7, Nachenberg teaches at least one flag in the set of flags corresponds to an operation for importing another code (col.3 lines 37-53).

Regarding claim 8, Nachenberg teaches at least one flag in the set of flags corresponds to an operation for disabling virus protection features in a target application (col.5 lines 5-8).

Regarding claim 9, Nachenberg teaches the searched statement type corresponds to an operation for disabling functionalities in a target application (col.4 line 66 thru col.5 line 10).

Regarding claim 10 (claim 12 as written), Nachenberg teaches the searched statement type corresponds to an operation for overwriting system macros (col.4 lines 3-14).

Claim 11 is a program storage device claim that is substantially equivalent to method claim 1, therefore claim 11 is rejected for the same reasons.

Claim 12 is a system claim that is substantially equivalent to method claim 1, therefore claim 12 is rejected for the same reasons.

Claim 13 is a computer data signal claim that is substantially equivalent to method claim 1, therefore claim 13 is rejected for the same reasons.

Claim 14 is an apparatus claim that is substantially equivalent to method claim 1, therefore claim 14 is rejected for the same reasons.

Regarding claim 15, Nachenberg teaches the heuristic analyzer is rule-based and comprises a heuristic engine and heuristic rules (col.1 lines 63-67; col.10 lines 28-43).

Regarding claim 16, Nachenberg teaches the heuristics engine, using the heuristic rules, parses the subject file (col.1 lines 63-67; col.3 lines 1-24; col.10 lines 28-43).

Regarding claim 17, Nachenberg teaches the heuristic rules include sets of heuristic flags stored in a rules table (col.3 lines 9-23).

Regarding claim 18, Nachenberg teaches the search component is rule-based and comprises a search engine and viral code class rules (col.3 lines 1-23; col.4 lines 23-41).

Regarding claim 19, Nachenberg teaches the search component is a neural network (fig.2; col.6 line 41 thru col.7 line 8).
